Discover Local Artists: Green art

Compiled by Peter Meyerhoefer, Special to Residences

Sunday, July 27, 2008

Meyerhoefer Gallery's "Shades of Green" show features seven artists who have created their works using reused, recycled or re-purposed materials. The show runs July 24 through Aug. 9.

The show benefits the Lake Worth Tree Board Canopy Restoration Fund.

Gael Silverblatt of Lake Worth, who serves on the Tree Board, is known for her gold and cloisonné jewelry. She created old-fashioned snow globes made from recycled glass jars, found objects and molding clay.

Boca Raton resident Eydi Lampasona used bones and found objects as well as old wood and larger-than-life nails for her pieces in this show.

Boynton Beach resident Elayna Toby Singer found her material while on her everyday walks. Her mixed-media designs incorporate found objects, architectural salvage, construction debris, vintage tools, natural materials, beads and wire.

Carol Bei of Palm Beach is inspired by heart shapes in nature. She used old palm branches and found objects for her "Heart Series." For example, she encased a "heart" from a palm frond in woven wire and then adorned it with found objects.

Victoria Skinner, also a Lake Worth Tree Board member, created paper collages by cutting and layering images from old publications.

Other featured artists are Steven Athansas, Martha Whittemore and Dick Borjnseth.

The gallery is at 608 Lucerne Ave., Lake Worth. Hours are noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday.

A benefit and artist reception are from 6 to 9 p.m. Saturday, July 26. Ten percent of all sales from the show will be donated to the Tree Fund. Admission to the show is free. For information call (561) 533-5332.
